UVMMC has used the terms Complete Blood Count and Hemagram interchangeably for many years. Generally, the Complete Blood Count (CBC) is a term with greater clinical recognition; additionally, in some laboratories, the Hemagram does not include a platelet count. For these reasons, on June 6, 2018 the laboratory will update all tests systems to say Complete Blood Count or Complete Blood Count with Differential. As always, these tests will include a platelet count.
